"CASTLES IN THE AIR."

A large and delighted audience greeted Senator "Bob" Taylor, of Tennessee, last night when he appeared on the platform at the George R. Hill Memorial building to deliver his lecture on "Castles in the Air." The Senator is a man of fine presence with a rich southern voice and pleasing manner and he won his audience from the start. He was gracefully introduced by Rev. C. D. Ball to which introduction he made gracious reply. Then he began his castle building—in the air—and for an hour and a half kept his audience in raptures of laughter mingled with periods of pathetic emotion. His lecture was replete with clean wit and pleasing humor and his description of the old times down on his father's southern farm was beautiful and abounded with pathos. His anecdotes were good and well told and brought forth rounds of applause. He has a wonderful flow of language and strings words as a skilled artificer strings pearls on a silver cord, each fitting in its place, and embellishing the other. Senator Taylor is a philosopher and advised his hearers to get all the good out of the world that is possible and concluded his lecture by saying if it is true that "Laugh and the world laughs with you," then why not keep it laughing all the time?

A SURPRISE PARTY.

A very large crowd of young people gathered at the residence of Mrs. Lyons on Duke street last Thursday night to surprise Miss Margaret Lyons in the way of a pound party.
